

Michael Rosen and the Teaching Assistants' Conference

Over 100 Teaching Assistants from Nottingham City and across the East Midlands attended the Primary Teaching and Learning conference to take part in workshops focussed on poetry with Michael Rosen.

Michael was on top form, not only sharing his inspirational strategies for engaging children with poetry, but also being hilarious and highly entertaining in the process.

The event, organised especially for teaching assistants, was a great experience for staff who described the event as "amazing, inspiring and exciting" and said they had "So much to think about and share back at school." A big thank you to everyone involved.
